CRUCIFIXION OF CHRIST

The crucifixion of Jesus Christ is discussed in all four Gospels of the New Testament. Carrying his cross up the rugged and desolate hillside of Golgotha to the site of His execution, Jesus is bound and nailed to a tree by His hands and feet. Left to hang on the cross for three hours before succumbing to death, many artistic representations of the crucifixion include the presence of His mother, His mother's sister, Mary Magdalene, and John (the disciple) as they stand by His side to the end.

On the evening following the crucifixion, Joseph of Arimathea goes to Pilate to ask him for the body of Jesus. Pilate consents to this request. Joseph takes the body of Jesus to prepare it for burial and lay it in a tomb. The Gospel account of Luke 23:55 suggests that the same group of women that stood beside Jesus at Golgotha (e.g., His mother, His mother's sister, and Mary Magdalene) followed Joseph to where he lay His body in the tomb. Our collection features an example of Mary with Jesus in the tomb.

THE STORY OF THE DEATH AND BURIAL OF JESUS

Jesus is sentenced to death by crucifixion on the basis of His personal revelation as the Messiah. The inscription of the charge held against Him appears on the cross and reads, "King of the Jews." Jesus indeed threatened many cherished beliefs, customs, and practices of Judaism of the time, but His life and ministry never wavered from acts of kindness, peace, and unconditional love.

Joseph of Arimathea is mentioned in all four Gospels, but as a historical figure in the life (and death) of Christ he is otherwise strangely absent from any other reference point in the Bible. The fact that Joseph begged Pilate for the body of Jesus unquestionably displays a tremendous act of courage and a profound testimony of his love for Jesus. Joseph acted quickly to provide Jesus with a proper burial and tomb in Arimathea, located about twenty-five miles from Jerusalem. Matthew 27:61 suggests that the mother of Jesus and Mary Magdalene witnessed Joseph prepare the body and that they remained close by the tomb.
